

I am strongly opposed to proposed restricted airspace. It will force private pilots, mostly with single engine aircraft, to deviate beyond gliding distance of land to the west, or over hostile terrain to the east. With I-5 and San Onofre power plants in the vicinity, real life war simulations are a weak argument at best.